M/V Haganes is older than the Titanic. In fact M/V Haganes was only a few hundred miles away at that time whaling in the North Atlantic. We have transformed this working ship into a holiday destination. This is the holiday experience for those who enjoy the romance of seagoing voyages of days gone by.....

This is not a typical small cruise ship or charter vessel. Let the five crew members of M/V Haganes take you on a holiday where you are the center of attention. You are the only guests aboard the M/V Haganes. Vessel itinerary and meals are planned around your desires. The M/V Haganes is the holiday destination.

You will have your own butler or maid to tend to your wishes. A tender boat will take you ashore at any time – no queues or mandatory times to be back on the ship.

Wonderful food not institutional food is served on board. Your chef goes into the local markets so that you can experience the food of the area. The cuisine is the fusion of international and local. We try hard to please your taste buds. This is why all of our guests are asked to complete a questionnaire of their food likes and dislikes. We want to serve what you like.

Have your coffee or tea as the sun rises on the lido deck, or simply arrange for room service. Take a morning swim in the warm waters of the clear sea around the boat, or take the kayak out to try your luck at catching fish. Plan a day ashore or not. Read a book or play your favorite games under the awning on the Lido deck. Sip some ice lemon tea or a cold beer or not. Dine under the stars. Hear the ocean lightly whispering on the hull of the Haganes as it has for a century.

There are no stair climbing machines. But there is one big ocean for swimming, diving, snorkeling, and kayaking. It is a perfect temperature. In most anchorages you can snorkel on a reef directly off of the boat. We arrange for diving adventures with local certified dive shops. In many cases we will arrange pickup and drop off directly to the Haganes. There's a kayak available for exploring tiny coves, rivers and beaches.

Price List Charter this vessel in its cruise around Southeast Asia - Philippines, Thailand, Borneo, Malaysia, Singapore and Indonesia. Exotic Southeast Asia

Additional Information

Weather and other conditions will effect the movement of the vessel, planned activities and the itinerary. Movement of M/V Haganes occurs only during daylight hours as most anchorages contain uncharted reefs which must be visually navigated. Haganes will anchor in protected anchorages at night so that the evenings can be enjoyed - either on the ship or ashore. The price includes the following for one or two people: transfers between airport and vessel, 7 days & nights aboard the vessel, a private air conditioned stateroom with facilities, fuel, all food aboard the vessel, and unlimited transfers between the vessel and shore. At extra cost, diving trips, car rentals, or tours can be arranged.

Electricity aboard the ship is 240v/50 hz. M/V Haganes is a high seas designed vessel and has high thresholds at all doors/hatches. In addition, access to the vessel and some internal stairs are at inclines similar to a step ladder. This should pose no problem for people of average mobility. There are no medical facilities on board the vessel, and the quality of facilities onshore will depend on the locations being visited. No pets are allowed on board.

The M/V Haganes follows the best weather moving around the finest destinations of Southeast Asia. We have an itinerary but since you are the only guests, YOU can tell the Captain what refinements you desire. Except for the Haganes' visit to Ko Samui (Thailand), the areas visited are off of the beaten path of cruise ships and brochure holidays. Everywhere Haganes visits the people are genuinely friendly and welcoming and you can be assured that your visit will be a memorable one.

West Coast of Borneo (Malaysia & Brunei) – M/V Haganes is in this area from October through June (except from 15 April to 30 May when Haganes is in the Philippines). You fly into the International Airport at Kota Kinabalu and will be met by our ground staff. The Haganes also sails to the Sultanate of Brunei with its majestic mosques and their famous stilt village. The ship also calls at the duty free island of Labuan (Palau Labuan) where you can purchase duty free goods and beverages from all over the world at true duty free prices. Gaya Island Marine Park is another lovely stop on the cruise, and depending on the weather Kudat, at the very northern tip of Borneo where we anchor off the beautiful seaside golf course.

North Coast of Borneo (Malaysia) – This section of Borneo is more remote. You fly into Kota Kinabalu and are met by our ground staff. Depending on your wishes, you can visit Kota Kinabalu and Gaya Island first and then sail to the North Coast of Borneo – or you can travel three hours by mini-bus to meet the Haganes in Kudat. Beautiful anchorages throughout the islands off of the north coast can be visited if one wishes. Haganes can visit this area during the same period as the West Coast of Borneo.

Tioman Island (Palau Tioman, Malaysia) – This duty free island off of the east coast of peninsular Malaysia has been compared by many naturalists to the Galapagos Islands of Charles Darwin fame. According to a BBC documentary, there are over 400 species of plant and animals found nowhere else but on Tioman Island. The government of Malaysia is working hard to protect this area of reefs and beautiful tropical forest laden volcanic mountains. The west and southern sides of the island are dotted with small holiday resorts. There are several islands within 40 miles with snorkeling and diving and picnicking on some of the uninhabited islands. You fly into Singapore and transfer to a Berjaya Air flight to Tioman where you will be met by the Haganes ground staff. The months of July and September are the months Haganes cruises this area. This is one of the Captain's favorite stops.

Ko Samui and Surrounding Islands – This area is a tourist and backpacker destination with Ko Samui almost completely developed and the northern islands much less developed. We cruise the islands of Koh Phangan and Ko Tao in this island group. The Haganes visits Ko Samui in August. You will be met at the Ko Samui airport by our ground staff after transiting through Bangkok.

Palawan, Philippines – This island is called the 'last frontier' of the Philippines. Tropical forests still stand. We offer Palawan as it is probably the most beautiful and unspoiled island in the Philippines with more activities available for hiking, diving, snorkeling, and sightseeing ashore. Some of the finest baskets and weavings are made by the mountain tribes that still exist here. Our visit here during the months of April and early May is during the transition between the Northeast monsoon to the Southwest monsoon – and just before the beginning of the typhoon season. You will be met at the airport in Puerto Princesa after your flight from Manila.

Repositioning Voyages – These can be your best or worst trip you have ever experienced. As much as we would like, we cannot control the weather. We travel with weather forecasts provided by the US Navy and other prime weather information bureaus. On these cruises you must be flexible as we will not sail until we see a good forecast. You can watch or participate in the operation of the ship. Our talented chef will produce the best meals they can based on the conditions. The level of service is diminished as ship staff will be operating the ship. These repositioning cruises are at least a week long but may last two weeks or more. Because of the uncertainties, these are offered at ½ price. No matter the time the cruise takes you still only pay for one week. Guests on repositioning cruises must know they do not get sea sick, and in any event must be prepared and should bring anti-seasickness medication. Sailing dates are 20 September (Tioman to Kota Kinabalu), 20 April (Kota Kinabalu to Palawan), 20 May (Palawan to Kota Kinabalu), 20 June (Kota Kinabalu to Tioman), 20 July (Tioman to Ko Samui), 20 August (Ko Samui to Tioman).
